Famed Quartet to Make Seventh BYU Appearance

The Paganini Quartet, which will be heard here this summer, as part of the 13th annual BYU Summer Music Festival, from June 11 to August 18, is a dramatic reunion of famous musicians and legendary instruments.

The artists are Henri Temlanik, Gustave Rossetti, Charles Fodart and Adolphe Freslin. And their instruments are four fabulous Paganini Strads, reassembled after a century of dispersal following Paganini's death.

It is from these instruments, which are insured for $250,000, made by Stradivarius more than two hundred years ago and at one time the most cherished possessions of the famous virtuoso, Nicolo Paganini, that the Paganini Quartet takes its name. He called it "a great quartet born on American soil." It was greeted with unprecedented interest.

From the very beginning the Paganini Quartet was hailed as a major addition to the musical scene. Its first appearances in 1946, which included the Beethoven Cycle in six concerts at the Library of Congress in Washington, a series of four concerts at the University of California at Berkeley, and the opening concerts in the New Friends of Music series in New York, attracted overflow audiences and testified to the extraordinary interest the new quartet had aroused.

Since then the Paganini Quartet has played hundreds of concerts throughout the United States, Canada, and Europe, and its name has become a household word among chamber music lovers.

The quartet was formed in 1945 under the sponsorship of Mrs. William Andrews Clark, and upon the initiative of its cellist, Robert Mass, whose untimely death in 1948 was deeply mourned by the entire musical world.

Members of the French club will perform a real French Can-can as a feature of the intermission show.

Royalty crowning the king and queen of the Mardi Gras will be chosen and crowned during intermission. Couples arriving at the dance will write their names on the back of their ticket and the rulers will be chosen by the drawing. The Japanese and Russian clubs are in charge of the coronation, which will probably be a traditional Japanese ceremony.

When masks are removed, balloons and confetti will be released to further add to the carnival air.

'51 Boasts First Coed Animal Husbandry Grad

Mary Malstrom, a pretty, brown-eyed Brigham Young University coed from West Jordan, can compete successfully with men and still be a "lady."

When the line of graduating seniors forms in June, Mary Malstrom, in cap and gown, will be among them—the first BYU coed to graduate with an animal husbandry major and an agricultural economics minor.

When she first came to BYU five years ago, Mary knew exactly what she wanted. She wanted an education, and she wanted to know more about farming and she wanted to marry a farmer.

"It looks like everything is going to work out the way I planned it," she smiles.

It made no difference then to the pretty, blonde five-foot-five coed, a woman should know something about her husband's occupation. I am confident that I can do anything in animal husbandry, and I feel that I will be able to help my husband and family through my knowledge of the essentials of good farm management.

She first became interested in animal husbandry when she began raising hogs as a 4-H project while still in high school. The project proved so successful that she went on raising hogs to pay her way through college. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace E. Malstrom of West Jordan, now operate one of the most successful hog farms in the state.

She is frank in admitting that she wants a home and family on the farm.

A good student, Mary has made a straight three-point average in her major, and a point-six average in her minor. People seem surprised when they learn that she is studying for a "man's subject." But Mary explains, "I am doing it because I believe a woman should know something about her husband's occupation. I am confident that I can do anything in animal husbandry, and I feel that I will be able to help my husband and family through my knowledge of the essentials of good farm management."

TRADITIONAL PROGRAM SET FOR THURSDAY, WITH GAMES, EATS, WORK ON Y-DAY MENU

by Camille Johnson

Y Day, May 17, includes a full schedule of both work and fun according to chairman John Jeppson. In addition to the clean up work the day's events will include games, sports, a program and a mat dance.

Beside clean up work on campus and cleaning the Y the school is cooperating with the forestry department in digging trenches across Y mountain to stop erosion. Campus jobs include cleaning the area around the field house, planting trees, shrubs, and new spring flower beds, and landscaping new campus areas.

Meeting Place

All men going to the Y should meet at 8th North and 12 East at 7:30 and bring shovels, picks, and brooms. They will be divided into work groups of 50, with a captain over each group. Men to remain on campus should report to their assigned spots at the same time.

Women students have also been given various jobs around campus, and points will be awarded to the group which does the neatest, pile and most improvement in plot, with Merrill Andrus acting as judge. The campus has been sectioned off, and lots drawn according to the size of the group. Representatives from each social unit, Beta Pi, and dorms participating.

Cake Contest

At 9:30 there will be a cake contest on the J. S. patio. Each unit may enter its best representative cake, and prizes will be awarded for the best ones. There will be food for all workers when lunch is served at the stadium house at 12:00 by women students. Social units, dorms and independents have been assigned to bring sandwiches and cakes. Janet Remond and Gayle Lousil are co-chairmen.

Program Planned

Immediately after lunch a program has been arranged with Julius Benson as chairman and John MacCabe master of ceremonies. Clowns who will help keep things lively are Bob Smith, Louis Winters, John Mackay, and Glen Gardner.

A spectacular splash is the first item on the program when the vigilantes committee will hold a dunking ceremony for all non-workers in front of the grandstand in the stadium. All workers will have identification badges, according to chairman Leonard Beckman.

Faculty Race

Second event will be the faculty bike race when the slowest person to cross the 50 yard line wins. Rules are that they cannot turn around in circles and their feet must not touch the ground. Next on the agenda will be the three-legged race with men and women teaming up.

Highlight of the afternoon will be when faculty members try to capture a grunted pig. The winner must catch the pig, hog tie it, and carry it to the front of the grandstand to claim his reward of the 75 pound pig. The Ag club is supervising this event and the pig will come from their herd, according to Ken Julian, chairman.

Fifth event of the afternoon will be the tin can still race for men and women. Tin can stills with wire ladders will be provided by Byron Gillbert. Following this men will enter the bicycle race which will be a distance of one mile on the circular track. Some bikes will be provided, but all contestants are invited to bring their own.

Team Races

Next men and women will combine in teams for a wheelbarrow race. Then the women will follow the faculty's example with a slow bicycle race over fifty yards. Burap sacks will be provided for the men's sack race which requires both feet to be in the sack.

Another long awaited event will be the annual AMS pie bust. Contestants will be drawn from the audience by the numbers on Y Day tags. Grant Evans will be in charge of this contest to find out the biggest glutton on campus.

Sack Rush

This program will be concluded with a sack rush between the freshmen and seniors versus the sophomores and juniors. Other committee members include Charles Lloyd, Joylene Rowley, Joe Hopf, Harold Western, Floyd Banks, and Leil Tagley.

"Old Mother Y and her children that lived in the shoe" will reign over the Y Day assembly at 3 p.m. in the Smith auditorium. The variety band will be out in force in cooperation with Joan LeSueur and her committee members.

Mirror, Mirror on the Wall...

Four Years In Review
Bring Wealth of Experience

by Shirley Maughan

Graduation! Can it be? But what does the future hold for the senior who overnight becomes independent and an adult ready to take his place in the world? Never were the honors more confused. The past four years have encompassed wonderful experiences. The completion and dedication of the Severn building, the erection of the new fieldhouse, the celebration of 75 years of progress, and such outstanding experiences as an English class from Karl Young, Reed Bankhead's missionary class, a physical education class from Leona Hildebrand, and counseling and guidance from such men as Dr. Reuben D. Law, Elvett Himes, and Dean Wesley Lloyd. The expert leadership of three remarkable men under the title of president and the future chief instrument of the ROTC.

Present recollections will live forever as graduates are reminded of former football games, junior games, church services at Campus Branch, devotional by cinema, assemblies. The extra-curricular calendar will never be so full again. The Baysan and UNIVERSITY comprise our only means of recapitulating the most interesting and the least acts made at this friendly little schools BYU with its dignified courtesies and people.

With the obtaining of that small scroll does mean all of this association is over? Will our lives ever be as free and unshackled as they were in college? The answer lies only with the future. This university has been great place to try to find your thinking the past four years. Concepts and pulses applied have been accepted or rejected with only one purpose in mind... to make your character into that kind of a person which will be advantageous to society. The world looks to the young educated minds for guidance. We as the next generation will be forced to control the affairs of the world. Your University will contribute to the overall picture. Are you ready to accept the responsibility?

Bugets again to this institution for the fine management and supervision to the little people who go unnoted each day, these people being the caretakers and janitors who contribute so much to the up the keep of this beloved school.

The service clubs, the social and geography as well as the art, music and drama associations which touch every student's life and bridge the two which add happiness and security to the student.

We couldn't omit the bookstore from our list of memories for it was there that friendships were strengthened, needed supplies obtained and the general meeting place for everyone. The bustle and bustle only added to the fun of being in college.

Looking back on the campus with all its fun times and so many "first" experiences and opportunities it is hard to believe the fact that they are all over. There are regrets but without mistakes there would be no learning or progression. Only by experience can we learn and achieve. There's nothing to take the place of school life. Nothing can substitute for those friendships and contacts.

BYU stands for four years of glowing memories, numerous experiences and useful spiritual guidance. Is there any other in education which gives so much and asks for so little?

Life Goals Are Important
States Nibley

A male who stood between two stacks of hay and couldn't decide which one to eat started to death when he saw the example that Brother Preston Nibley used in his talk during devotions, Tuesday night.

Brother Nibley, in his talk, gave sound advice to the students as they may get through the world.

The way one lives has time and advantages that are offered the BYU, and how he adapts the knowledge which he acquires, determines the type of character he will be when he faces the world. In order to compete with the students of the outside world, the students should cultivate their habits of study, accuracy, and diligence in all college work. However, it is most important to remember that the type of work one intends to do and accomplish, and the goal one wants to reach must be achieved as early as possible. It has been proven that 40 to 1, success comes only to those who "know what to do."

Brother Nibley also emphasized the fact that the students should rely on solid foundation in regard to religion. "Faith to you will bring you to the top and make things a part of you." As for the things one doubts, he said to give them alone for "doubt only carries darkness to the confusion which already exists."

'Oscars' To
Local Thespians

The dream a salute cleared during World War II is a comedy true at Brigham Young University.

Coy Miles, a lad from Beker, Ore., went to most of the BYU plays while he was in school and lived them. After he joined the Navy, he kept interested about the university and those plays.

"Someday I'd like to do something like the people who spent so much time and effort in BYU drama," he wrote to Dr. J. Carl Fjordson, head of the BYU speech department from a small outfit, talking about in the middle of so many other during the war.

And now, he's doing it. Successful in business in Salt Lake City, Mr. Miles furnishes two beautiful statuettes each year to be presented to the outstanding actor or actress of the year at BYU.

Catching the spirit of the Miles awards, the speech department gives two similar statuettes to the best supporting actor and actress each year, and an award to the "actor of the year" for the best portrayal of several roles.

Cast in bronze and representing the actor and actress respectively, the award statuettes have been appropriately named "Thalians" after Thalia, the goddess of drama.

The first Thalians awards were given last year at a nomination banquet at which BYU speech majors pulled the ups and downs of their lives on the stages. The second award banquet is held used for May 19 at the Flamingo in South Provo.

Mr. Miles will be there this year to see his "Brain Children" awarded and a dream come true.

Warm weather is here and with it comes in all its radiance, our old standby and favorite, cotton. It is so versatile and yet so inexpensive, and it comes in every imaginable weave and print to complement that gorgeous tan that everyone's been raving about.

They'll rave even more when they see Trilby Packard in this date dress from Firmage's. Of gold polished cotton with small accentuating white buttons down the front, it can be an asset to any coed's wardrobe. Especially interesting is the white cotton lace detail on the hip pockets. Trilby chooses while string cotton gloves and navy blue platform pumps from Firmage's shoe salon to complete her ensemble.

For that "Sunday-go-to-meet-in" cotton, Beverly Brough has chosen this all-purpose butcher linen duster in navy with a red taffeta lining and a red, school-boy tie, slipped under the tiny convertible collar. The long sleeves fold up to show the red lining as a cuff. The red straw picture hat is a first love of Bev's, and it comes from Firmage's military department. Of course, white, cotton string gloves add their bit, along with the navy platform shoes, to achieve harmony.

Firmage's soon-to-open College Shop will feature clothes the Y-Boys prefer. Peggy Affleck wears a particular preference, an emerald-green, mercerized poplin sundress. Its special feature, a "Kimbalization Production," is the white embroidery trimmed stole with tiny pockets. The embroidery is repeated on the band around the bodice from which small, unpressed pleats hang softly. White bead earrings from the accessories department add the final touch of white. Leather pumps of every conceivable color can be purchased to complement this outfit, which will be especially suitable for those summer evenings at home.

And so don't let anyone tell you that cotton is just for school. Wear it anywhere—in any style—in any color.

The affair is cosponsored by the athletic department and the downtown coaches club and tickets are being sold for 50 cents for students, 25 cents for faculty and 20 cents for adults.

Cougars Hand Utah Netters Initial Defeat

The Brigham Young University tennis team, led by a returning form, Harold Christensen, squeaked out a 5-4 win over the University of Utah Redskins, previously undefeated.

It marked the first loss for any of the Redskins' spring sports teams this season and gave the Utes a 6-1 record on the courts.

The Cats clinched the meet when Salisbury and Christensen teamed up to defeat Glade and Cooper 6-2 and 6-3 in the first doubles match and give the Cougars a 5-2 lead.

The results:

Singles—Jerry Glade, Utah, def. Paul Salisbury, Y, 6-4, 6-5.
Harold Christensen, Y, def. John Bennett, Utah, 6-3, 6-2.
Dick Rock, Y, def. Gil Warner, Utah, 6-3, 6-4.
Ed Charles, Provo, Y, 6-3, 6-2.
Gordon Crandall, Y, def. Harvey Gustafson, Utah, 6-1, 6-2.

Utah's Salisbury-Christensen team will be a double-headed threat between the Grizzlies and the champion Redskins. Montana is currently tied for basement honors with the Farmers with a 3-7 mark. The Utes are 9-0.

Friday the Utah State Farmers invade Provo to engage the Cougars in three sports. The Aggie baseball team will meet the Cats in a doubleheader at Tamp Park.

Utah Redskins Supreme In Spring Sports With 20-1 Mark

Utah University's spring sports teams have been piling up a rather enviable record. BYU, 20-1 this season, but received a slight demerit last week end when the Cougar netters spoiled the perfect mark with an upset win.

Needless to say, the Utes lead in three of the four sports and are tied with the Montana Grizzlies for first place in the track picture.

The Utes face the acid test on the track this afternoon when the Grizzlies travel to Salt Lake to engage the Redskins in a dual meet. The Grizzlies entertain the visiting Utah tennis and golf teams this week end at Mammoth.

Roundout of the Montana series will be a double-header between the Grizzlies and the champion Redskins. Montana is currently tied for basement honors with the Farmers with a 3-7 mark. The Utes are 9-0.

Friday the Utah State Farmers invade Provo to engage the Cougars in three sports. The Aggie baseball team will meet the Cats in a doubleheader at Tamp Park.

Indians Western Division Champs, Top Cats Twice

By Chet Harms

Utah's rampaging Redskins used the Brigham Young baseball nine for a spring season last week as they climbed upon the championship pedestal at the Skyline Conference western division.

Thursday's contest found the Cougars giving the Utes a hard time by making seven errors while the Redskins moved to a 12-5 win. Friday, Utah mirrored their scoring parade to Provo where they walked over to Y again by a 14-0 score.

The double win by Utah gives them a 50 record with three more games to play before they meet the western division champion in a playoff game for the title.

Utes Cop Links Division Crown, Beat Cougars

Utah University's sensational spring sports teams added another victory in the Gulf column last Wednesday as they trimmed the Cougars 17-6.

The victory, scored on Provo's Timpanogos course, clinched the western division championship for the Utes and marked the fifth straight time the Redskins have defeated the Cougars.

Wednesday results:

Tommy Hansen (Utah) def. Lynn Bell, 21.
Russell Hadley (Utah) def. Paul Davis, 30.

The Thursday affair found Vic Stockenhausen tossing pitches as hard to hit as his name as hard to spell. He allowed the Cougars only five hits and walked a dozen. His only bad inning was the fifth in which he walked ten and gave up a single as BYU played two centers.

A major factor in this contest was a misplay at the first inning in which Cal Crump, star Y pitcher, received a leg injury. Crump laid down into the plate to make a put out on Jimmy Cleverly who was attempting to score from third.

Cleverly elected to charge in standing up instead of sliding and the Y hurler was leveled. Crump limped through the remainder of the inning while the Redskins took advantage to score their initial three runs. Tom DeLoe acts as the mound in the second and finished the game. (Continued on page 7)

Leadership Week To Stress Church Welfare Works

Leaders and laymen of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints will have an opportunity to learn more about Church Welfare work at the annual Brigham Young University Leadership Week welfare sessions June 15-22.

Two sections of activity have been planned for welfare-minded individuals. Leaders, including Relief Society presidents, husbands, and welfare workers, will meet in one section, and all Leadership Week enrollees are invited to attend meetings in another section, according to Robert Patch, BYU instructor, in religious and chairman of welfare activities for the week.

Sessions of the welfare courses will meet from 9 to 11 a.m. and from 2 to 4 p.m. daily. The 11 a.m. hour is reserved for special assemblies for all Leadership Week registrants.

Speakers in the welfare programs will be general welfare authorities, and general authorities of the church. Specialists in certain phases of welfare work will also be guest speakers.

Although the course will consist primarily of lectures, tours of welfare installations on and around Provo have also been planned.

Leadership Week activities are planned each summer at Brigham Young University through the cooperative effort of the university and the church. Most activities are open to the public, and all courses will be given without charge.

Science by Torchlight ...

Gold Y Chapter of I.K. Stresses Service, Loyalty

"Service, sacrifice, and loyalty," the motto of the Intercollegiate Knights, quite well sums up their ideals and purpose of unselfish service to their Alma Mater.

Recognized by their white sweaters with blue knight heads, the I.K.'s serve their school in capacity in which they are the love of the school, they perform, without pay, any service that is asked of them.

They are usually seen ushering at assemblies, lyceums, football and basketball games, and running voting booths. A job which the I.K.'s have developed almost to a science, and which is there alone, is that of lighting the Y. It is from this job that the BYU chapter gets its name, the Gold Y.

The Intercollegiate Knights, national honorary service fraternity, was organized at the University of Washington in 1919 and became a national organization in 1923. Brigham Young University's Gold Y chapter was organized in 1941 to give underclassmen a chance to serve their school. There are at present about 35 chapters in eleven western states.

Membership is restricted to college freshmen, sophomores, and junior men. All men coming in must have a 1.5 grade average and serve one quarter as pages during which their desire and ability to serve is proven. Following the page period, men are admitted to full knighthood. The Gold Y chapter now contains 35 active knights and pages.

In cooperation with the Y Calcarens, the Intercollegiate Knights sponsor the annual Belle of the Y dance. The proceeds of this dance go into the fund for the Y Bell shrine, which is a combined project of all the service units on campus.

Another annual affair is a basketball game with the Sculp-ter chapter of Intercollegiate Knights from the University of Utah. The Gold Y chapter lost the first one this year in an overtime game.

On May 19, the Gold Y chapter will be host to a regional convention of chapters from USAC, IAC, and U of U. The I.K.'s also have an annual national convention, held this year in Salt Lake City.

The organization of the unit is patterned after that of the ancient order of knights. The chapter consists of two councils, the layman and the executive. The executive council consists of the five officers, whose titles are from the government of the ancient knights.

The Gold Y chapter is fortunate in having one of its members, Keith Orme, elected to serve as Royal King (national president) for next year. Keith is the first knight from BYU to serve as a national officer, having served this year as Royal Duke (national vice president).

Officers of the Gold Y chapter for 1960-61 are: Honorabile Duke, Clarke Blumhagen; Worthy Scribe, Gordon Taylor, Chancellor of the Exchequer, Dave Clark; Worthy Recorder, Blaise Hess; Expansion Chairman, Frank Dely; and Lee L. Olsen, Ritual Officer. Ken Leth served as Honorabile Duke this year.
